

The Soft Commodities Forum of the World Business Council for Sustainable Development

The SCF founding principles

The Soft Commodities Forum (SCF) is a global platform for leading soft commodities companies, convened by the World Business Council for Sustainable Development (WBCSD) for the purpose of advancing collective action around common sustainability challenges.

The Forum is made up of WBCSD member companies who share a vision of ensuring sustainable agriculture supply chains and working in partnership with government, producers, consumers and civil society to create a safer, more sustainable food system.

SCF member companies each have pledged to eliminate deforestation from their agricultural supply chains worldwide, deploying credible, tested science-based methodologies for defining forests and biodiversity.

The SCF seeks to advance solutions that balance environmental, social and economic interests for the agriculture sector in the agriculturally-rich areas where they operate, respecting the rights of local communities and indigenous people, and applying free, prior and informed consent (FPIC) for land purchases and use.

The SCF is committed to improving sector transparency and traceability of key supply chains over time, through the establishment of voluntary standards – or a minimum set of methodologies – for monitoring and verifying company progress towards the implementation of company policies to eliminate deforestation.

The SCF seeks to promote the development of new financing mechanisms that enhance the flow of capital and/or technical assistance to producers who avoid deforestation, advance sustainable agricultural practices and protect environmental services.

The SCF companies each pledge to disclose and report annually progress towards our efforts to achieve agreed upon key performance indicators (KPIs) to measure progressive reductions in deforestation and land conversion in targeted agricultural supply chains.

World Business Council for Sustainable Development

The SCF is an industry body made up of WBCSD member companies committed to advancing sustainable business practices and voluntary minimum standards. — Throughout its activities, the SCF seeks to ensure for satisfaction of applicable requirements including compliance with competition laws. — Any standard will be public, voluntary and open to all.

The SCF first aims to tackle land use challenges in the Brazil Cerrado, encouraging others in the sector to follow their efforts. — SCF member companies believe that reductions in deforestation are most effectively addressed when a specific geography and crop is targeted.

The SCF intends to address other areas of mutual and identified social or environmental challenge related to agricultural supply chains — These efforts will include clear objectives and goals for measuring progress to be made and reported.

Members of the SCF include: founding members include Archer Daniels Midland, Bunge, Cargill and Louis Dreyfus Company (LDC). The Soft Commodities Forum membership has expanded to include COFCO International and Glencore Agriculture. It is expected that other WBCSD members will join the SCF as its work expands.